

PLAN YOUR ROUTE TO DOING BUSINESS POST-BREXIT

5 tips for every business

KNOW YOUR SUPPLY CHAIN

It is essential to know who supplies the materials you need for your business, and who is supplying your suppliers. In turn, you need to anticipate your customers' expectations. Where are materials coming from, or going to? How will they be transported after Brexit? Can you absorb any unexpected delays in receiving materials, or when shipping yours to your customers?

UNDERSTAND THE NEW CUSTOMS ENVIRONMENT

With future trade negotiations still in progress, it's hard to know what to expect and what protocols, processes and tariffs might apply. Do you have the right staff in place to manage this? Make sure your staff have received Customs Clearance training. Take advantage of grants to hire new staff to manage this area for your business

PROTECT YOURSELF FROM CURRENCY FLUCTUATIONS

In this uncertain environment, a sudden move in the euro vs sterling or any other currency could have a negative impact on your bottom line. It's important to understand if you have a currency exposure and take steps to mitigate the risk, with the help of a professional FX solutions provider.

SEEK TRUSTED SOURCES OF HELP AND GUIDANCE

It's important to use trusted information sources and also to apply for targeted help with hiring specialist staff, consultancy or training. As a start, take a look at our article: 6 trusted websites to help you prepare for Brexit.

MAKE SURE YOU'VE ENOUGH WORKING CAPITAL

Uncertainty, new processes and interruptions to trading supply lines are likely to result in unexpected additional costs for your business. So make sure you're prepared for the challenges and the opportunities that lie ahead with Linked Finance, who can arrange fast and simple finance for your business, with no early repayment fees and simple paperwork.